The calendar of common law jury cases called and days were fixed for their trial.

THE JUMEL WILL CASE, or rather the case of George W. Bowen vs. Nelson or rather the case of George W. Bowen vs. Nelson Chase, so well known in our judicial annais, is on the calendar. When it was called Mr. Chatfield, of counsel for plaintiff, said he hoped the trial would be set down for some time in November.

Mr. Garter, of counsel for defendant, replied that he did not wish to do anything that would jeopardize the case, and, therefore, objected to its postponement till November.

Judge Shipman said he would like to have some consultation with the Circuit Judge, as he did not know how long he could hold Court, and if counsel would come in on Saturday morning he would then, he thought, be able to fix upon some definite day when the case could be taken up.

The Court adjourned until this morning.

UNITED STATES COMMISSIONERS' COURT. Extradition Case-An Alleged German Fugitive Charged With Forgery. Before Commissioner White.

Yesterday Ludwig Julius August Kraebs, aged thirty-eight years, was brought before Com-missioner Kenneth G. White on a warrant charging him with having forged a savings bank book in Mecklenburg in May or June last. One Heinrich Wetzel claims to be the sufferer by this alleged forgery. It appears that the accused left Bremen on or about the 5th of October, in the steamship Hermann, and travelled among the steerage passengers. As soon as his flight in this manner was discovered the German authorities forwarded a telegram to the German Consul at New York informing him of the fact. Upon the strength of this telegram a warrant was issued for the arrest of Kraebs, and it was entrusted to Deputy Marshals Crowley and Purvis, who kept on the lookout for Kraebs, and arrested him on Saturday night, upon the arrival of the steamer in this port. It is stated that Kraebs travelled under the mame of Heinrich Behrens.

When the case was called on ex-Governor Salomons stated that he appeared as counsel to represent the German government in this matter.

Commissioner White, prosecuting counsel, asked if he had got the mandate of the President, authorizing this proceeding.

Counsel produced it.

A rumor prevailed that "Boss" Tweed would make his appearance before this Court yesterday morning and give ball on the last indictment found morning and give ball on the last indictment found against him. In this anticipation the court room was crowded, but they were disappointed in this regard. Mr. Tweed failed to appear, and the only thing occurring referring to him was an announcement by Judge Brady that on Wednesday morning he would render a decision on the motion to quash the last indictment argued at length the other day. After this, there being no further business, the Court adjourned till this morning.

MARINE COURT-PART I. A Case from the Sommerville Picture Gallery. Before Judge Gross.

Schenck vs. Perry.—The plaintiff, an auctioneer, jast fall entered into an agreement with the defendant, who, in addition to being a bank officer, was a lover of the fine arts, to use his induence in bringing customers to and forwarding a sale of bringing customers to and forwarding a sale of plaintiff's pictures, about to take piace at the Sommerville gallery, for which he was to receive two and a half per cent commission on the prices bought at the auction by bona fide purchasers and $2.50 on each picture withdrawn. This action is brought to recover such commission on about $12,000, as well as the fees on sundry "withdrawn" pictures. The defence interposed was that the week prior to this auction and after the making of the contract plaintiff advertised, as among another pollection about to be sold, certain pictures by a pelebrated artist, when in fact they were spurious, and thus brought down the market for originals of the same artist, of which defendant's collection sontained several. It was explained on the trial that "withdrawing" a picture meant the knocking of it down to some mythical Tom, Dick or Harry where a satisfactory price was not offered. Verdict for plaintiff for full amount.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS. Empanelling of the Grand Jury.

Before Recorder Hackett.

At the opening of the Court yesterday the Grand Jury was empanelled, sworn and briefly charged by His Honor. Mr. Simon Stevens was selected as foreman. The Grand Jury of the Oyer and Terminer not having finished their labors, the Recorder instructed the General Seasions Grand Jury to appear in Court next Wednesday.

charge of the Prisoners.

The first case tried by the Jury was an indictment for burglary against William Howard, Patrick Kane and Hugh Kelly. Howard demanded a sepa-rate trial. It appears that on the night of the 4th of August, the bonded warchouse kept by Doane & Co., Nos. 601 and 503 washing-ten street, was burgiarlously entered, and eight pieces of silk, the property of Escher & Co., were stolen. The evidence against Howard was simply that when arrested he told the officer that he had found two pieces on the stairs of a tenement house adjoining the bonded warehouse. Witness showed Howard's previous good character, and the jury rendered a verdict of not guilty, without leaving their seats.

As there was no further evidence against Kane and Kelly they were discharged.

BROOKLYN COURTS. COURT OF OYER AND TERMINER. The Murder of a Policeman-Trial of Henry Rogers for Killing Officer Donahue-The "Battle Row" Tragedy-Direct Evidence Against the Prisoner-Testimony of Witnesses of the Fatal Before Judge Gilbert and Associate Justices Voorbees and Johnson.

The court room of the Oyer and Terminer in the Court House, Brooklyn, was crowded yesterday by the roughs and thieves of the Fourteenth ward. The attraction was the trial of Henry Rogers, a member of the notorious "Battle Row" gang, for the murder of Policeman John Donahue, of the Fourth street station, early on the morning of the 7th of July last. The prisoner is about thirty-five years of age, and, despite the efforts which he had evidently made to present a respectable appearance, he bore the traces in looks and manner of the life of lawlessness which he had been leading up to the time of the commission of this crime. "Battle Row," as the locality of North First street, between Eleventh street and Union avenue, street, between Eleventh street and Union avenue, is best known, was the resort of A GANG OF OUTLAWS who made their headquarters at the low groggery in that vicinity kept by one Hugh McGoldrick. Henry Rogers, the prisoner, was a prominent member of this gang, who became a periect terror to the neighborhood and whose career of lawlessness finally culminated in the murder of the unfortunate Policeman Donahue in July last. This gang had given the police of the Flith precinct (Captain Woglom's) a great deal of trouble, and several hours previous to this murder some of them had an encounter with several officers in Grand street. On this night in question the prisoner and other members of the gang had been to a "free and easy" on Grand street, and after leaving there proceeded to McGoldrick's place. At midnight the proprietor put them out and shut up shop. The crowd congregated about the door and begant to sing ribald songs, and created such a disturbance that Officer Donahue ordered them to be quiet. Just before this Rogers was heard to say that if Donahue came along there that night

HE WOULD KILL HIM.

He had armed himself with a heavy cartrung which he took out of McGoldrick's saloon, and as soon as the officer, after speaking to the crowd, started to leave the place, he struck him on the head with it. A witness describes the blow as being so powerful as to turn the officer completely around. The crowd then fied, leaving poor Donahue lying insensible on the sidewalk with a fractured skull and weltering in his own blood. Several officers arrived shortly afterwards and conveyed the injured man to the City Hospital, where he died in a few days thereafter.

Rogers was standing by him.
Cornelius Denver saw Rogers step out and strike the officer, who immediately threw out his hands towards his assailant and fell to the pavement.
William Hilbert saw the prisoner strike the blow and saw Flint (the witness who escaped) take up a stone and heard him say, "Pil give it to him, too;" witness, however, did not see Flint throw the stone. Rocco Atelia, an Italian, who was indicted for killing Daniel Donohue on the 9th of June, pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the third degree. John Broni, also an Italian, was jointly indicted, and demanded a trial. The Court refrained from passing sentence on Atelia until the close of the trial of The Court adjourned until this morning at ten manded a trial. The Court refrained from passing sentence on Atella until the close of the trial of Broni. A large number of witnesses, Hibernian and Italian, of both sexes, were examined, the drift of whose testimony went to show that the defendants and the deceased were drinking together in the morning, at which time Donohue quarrelled and used very offensive language to the Italians, threatesing to kill them; that later in the day the difficulty was renewed, and Donohue left his room, brandishing a small axe. He met Broni at the foot of the stairs, who succeeded in getting it from him and dealt a slight blow with the handle of it upon Donohue's head. At this juncture Atella drew a pair of seissors from his pocket and inflicted a deadly wound upon Donohue in the abdomen, which resulted in his death.

THE CASE OF MR. HENRICHS.

The Recorder in charging the jury gave them a succinct statement of the evidence and the law applicable to it, informing them that if they believed Broni was acting in self-defence he should be acquitted. The jury promptly rendered a verdict of not guilty.

Atella was arraigned for sentence. His Honor remarked that the prisoner wantonly and unnecessarily took the life of Donohue, who had been dispossessed of the hatchet just before he was stabbed. The most severe penalty which the law prescribed for manslaughter in the third degree was imposed, which was imprisonment in the State Prison at hard labor for four years.

An Acquitted. A case involving some features of public interes came up in the United States Court yesterday. It was that of Mr. George H. Henrichs, who was ar-Davenport, charging the former with having obstructed and assaulted an election Deputy Marshal, while the latter, as it is claimed, was in the execu tion of his duty. The Commissioner holds his Court at two or three different places in this city, some-THE PUPPH AVENUE HOTEL and sometimes in his little room in the federal buildings in Chambers street. It appears that after Mr. Henrichs was arrested he was taken before the Commissioner at the Pifth Avenue Hotel, on Saturday evening last, and, though Mr. Henrichs offered ball on that occasion, the Commissioner declined to accept it, standing, it is supposed, on the technical ground that he is allowed by law twenty-four hours after GOURT CALENDARS—THIS DAY.

MARINE COURT—TRIAL TERM—Part 1—Held by an arrest is brought to his notice before he need take ball. United States magistrates do not always adopt this rule; they depart from it every day when they are satisfied that the bail tendered is good, and it is claimed by Mr. Henrichs that the ball he offered to Mr. Davenport for his appearance was of the best kind. The law ought to be always strained—when strained at all—on the side of mercy and not drawn out so as to be an engine of strained—when strained at all—on the side of mercy and not drawn out so as to be an engine of oppression; and there seems to be no reason whatever why a citizen should be locked up of a Saturday night and all through the Sabbath day and night from his family when he was ready to give bail for his appearance to answer any charge that might be made against him. Mr. Henrichs is said to be a liberal in politics, and he is accused of having obstructed an officer who is presumed to be acting in the interest of the administration. Could this have had anything to do with the reiusal of Mr. Davenport to take the bail when it was first tendered? Was it intended by this act, to affix a stigma upon the defendant by sending him to prison, when, as he states, he could have given most responsible bail? The conviction is gaining ground every day that this Commissioner is at present combining two characters—one that of magistrate and the other that of political agent in the interest of a party. The two characters ought to be distinct; and, for his own sake, Mr. Davenport ought to place himself above the suspicion of dragging the ermine of the Bench through the dregs of politics.

YESTREDAY'S PROCEEDINGS IN THE GASE.

At eleven o'clock yesterday morning Mr. Henrichs, with his counsel, Mr. Hirsh, and accompanied by Ex-Senator Creamer and Judge Gross, came to Commissioner Davenport's office for the purpose of giving bail. He was not then in his office, and Mr. Henrichs, with the other gentlemen, walted for a considerable time. Davenport at last appearing, Mr. Hirsh went before Judge Blatchford and presented with a view of bringing out certain facts in relation to this case, as it is alieged that Commissioner Davenport refused to take bail for Mr. Henrichs at the time of his arrest, though he offered to enter into a good and responsible bond. Before Judge Blatchford took any action on the writ of habeas corpus Davenport had arrived in his office, whereupon Mr. Henrichs went before him and entered into ball in $5,000 for his appearance on Thursday next to which day the examination has been adjourned. Commissioner Davenport stated that he had issued the warrant in question for the purpose of letting it be seen that he would not have his men treated in this manner.

Mr. Hirsh went before Judge Blatchford and presented

The parties then withdrew from the office, and the case accordingly goes over till Thursday, when it is expected that the question of the Commissioner's arbitrary refusal to accept sufficient bail for a respected and responsible critizen will be fully entered into. No doubt the whole composition of the Commissioner's posse comitatus and their domiciliary visits during exciting election times like these will be fully entered into and discussed, and some developments brought to light that may tend to abate the evil.

THE OLD GHARD

brating the Anniversary of Their First Parade-The Nobie Appearance of the Gray-Haired Veterans-The Fun of Youth Not Forgotten-A Banquet at the St. Germain.

The oldest and most distingue military corps of the city celebrated yesterday its annual parade. The "Old Guard" is composed of some of the most known, successful, respected and brilliant metropolitans, and it has grown to be almost a custom that the membership should pass from father to son, so that the richest families have been and are represented in its ranks.

The first organization of this body was made in the year 1826. It was then called the "Light Guard," In 1832 it was rechristened the "City Guard," and in 1863 its name was changed to that of the "Old Guard," expressive of the honor and brillancy of its career. Most of its present members gained some distinction in the war and won grades of honor by services which have not entirely passed from the memories of that period.

Yesterday's parade was the second since 1868, and was as fine a sight, although not so grand or imposing, as has ever happened in the streets of New York. Every rank was composed almost entirely of men who are past the meridian of life, and whose heads are crowned with honorable gray, and the younger warriors were only such as were growing into the places of their ancestors as the latter grow older and more to be venerated. The uniform of the Guard is the finest one in the service. The coat is a light creamy color, with gold ornamentation, and the trousers are blue, with golden stripes. They wear a huge bearskin cap, like that of the "pioneers" of the ordinary militia when on parade, only much larger. The Major, George W. McLean, United States Array, was yesterday in command. The procession was mustered at the armory of the Seventy-first regiment, and marched down through Broadway, Broad and Wall streets, and then up to the St. Germain Hotel. Here was spread a generous handuct for about two hundred persons, which passed off in the happlest manner. The Dauntless Band—the one which was led by Dodworth thirty years ago, and which paraded at the head of the corps—was in attendance. Humor and conviviality were the spirit of the occasion, which was full of old-time enjoyment for the rejuvenated veterans. Very felicitous speeches were made by the President General Mathews, Secretary of the Guard. Segeant "Ben" Gurney kept the table in a roar with ebullitions of his irresistible fun. Vice President Henry Moulton sang with a spirit of an old campaigner.

After the banquet the corps formed in the street and marched to the armory of the Seventy-first regiment, Here, after the dismissal, there was some impromptu jubilation, in the midst of w Guard," and in 1868 its name was changed to that of the "Old Guard," expressive of the honor and lying insensible on the sidewalk with a fractured skull and weltering in his own blood. Several omcers arrived shortly alterwards and conveyed the injured man to the City Hospital, where he died in a few days thereatter.

The assault was committed soon after midnight, on Sunday morning, and by daylight Captain Woglom's officers had arrested Rogers and nearly twenty others, the most of whom have been held as witnesses, and some of whom were examined for the people yesterday. One of the arrested parties (James Flynn) succeeded in escaping from the police while being taken from the Court House to the jail a few days since.

THE PROCEEDINGS YESTERDAY.

District Attorney Britton and his assistant, Edgar J. Cullen, appeared for the people yesterday, while Messrs. Theodore Edson and E. G. Davis, who had been assigned by the Court, defended the prisoner. A jury was obtained with little difficulty, and Mr. Britton opened the case for the people.

The first witness examined was Policeman Cartwell, who testified substantially as follows:—On the 6th of July Donahue was my side partner; we went on duty together; I last saw him in health on Grand street, one block from McGoldrick's place, lying on the sidewalk; it was about nine or ten minutes after I parted with him when he left me he went toward McGoldrick's place; when I found him he acted as if he was crazy; he was lying on his back as if in convulsions, gasping and snorting; I looked around to see who had done it; there was

BLOOD ALL AROUND HIM, and the skull was fractured; when I arrived there I found find, and a short distance from it I found a broken club. (The bludgeon was shown and identified.) It looked like a cartrung; there was no blood upon it; the club was just the same then as its now; I found one peec in the gutter and two on the sidewalk; I stayed there a full hour, I guess, before I went away; I did not see Rogers then; McGoldrick's place with his hands behind him; Rogers said, "If Donahue was turned completely around; Rogers was not so drunk but that he

Interesting and Exciting Contests-An Accident to Drivers McKee and Bowen-Constitution the Winner of the Match and Ben Morrell the Colt Stake-The "Free-for-All" Purse Undecided.

The disagreeable storm on Friday last caused the management of the Prospect Park Fair Grounds to postpone the announced events of the fourth day of their Fail trotting meeting until yesterday. These were of the most important nature, embracing the purse and stake for four-year coits and the great time of a stake for four-year coits and the great "free-for-all" race, for which were entered a field of the grandest clippers that have been shown on the track this year. As the utmost speculation had been indulged in regarding the last sired and hoped for a pleasant day and good track to give satisfaction to all concerned. This wish was gratified, as never did Autumn sunshine seen more genial, and five thousand persons enjoyed a pleasant drive through Prospect Park and down the Coney Island road to the scene of the excitement, rendered doubly enjoyable by the beauty of the scenery along which they journeyed. The Prospect Park Fair Grounds but twice or three times before ever had such a gathering within its limits. There were there distinguished gentlemen of the turf from hundreds of miles around New York, and scores of ladies, attended with club members, that have not before visited the grounds this year. The track was in excellent condition. Before the regular events of the day there was decided a match of $500, mile heats, best three in five, in harness, between Frank Loomis' sorrel gelding Constitution and Dan Pfler's bay mare Topsey. In the poots Constitution was the favorite four to one. He won the race in three straight heats.

The second event was the purse and stake for four-year-old colts, and of the seventeen entries originally made but three came to the post, those being R. H. Gallaway's brown stallion Dixon, by Happy Medium; M. M. Judkin's brown stallion Ben Morrell, by Winthrop Morrell, and A. H. Rowe's black stallion Rowe's Tommy (formerly Thomas Jefferson, Jr.) The bay gelding Silver Heel, by Rysdyk's Hambletonian, had been named to start by his owner, Mr. Charles Backman, but he was taken stek on Sunday, and withdrawn under the rules. The race ended most unfortunately for the owner of Dixon and his backers, and their name was legion, for he was the favorite at two to one over the field, as after passing the quarter pole in the first heat he fell down, throwing his driver, James McKee, from the sulky, and over which mass of man, colt and sulky passed the colt Ben Morrell, who was but two lengths behind Dixon when he fell. This mishap also overturned Morrell's sulky, giving his driver—Jack Bowen—a serious fall. Happily McKee was not badly injured, his shoulder and head being somewhat contused, but he will not be compelled to remain in doors. When this accident happened to Dixon—for it was an accident, it is asserted, caused by his throat latch choking him—le lay on the track very quietly until led away, and won the heat, and under the rules Dixon was distanced; but Morrell was allowed to start again, when he won the race in three straight heats. The owner of Dixon was so chagrined at the result of the connest that he has offered to match his colt against Morrell for $1,000 a side, the race to come off at Prospect Park within ten days.

The third event was the important one of the meeting. It was the purse of $4,000, free for all, harring American Girl - $1,700 to Brix $1,100 to second, $700 match of $500, mile heats, best three in five, in harness, between Frank Loomis' sorrel gelding Constitution and Dan Pfifer's bay mare Topsey. MARYLAND JOCKEY CLUB. The First Day's Events and the Probable Starter.—Pool Selling in Bultimore Last Night.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 21, 1872. The weather, the preparations made, the unusually large purses offered—amounting to $25,000— and the general magnitude of the race programme for the week warrant the supposition that the annual race meeting of the Maryland Jockey Club, which commences at Pimlico Course to-mor row, will be a great success. The attendance, club, which commences at Pimlico Course to-morrow, will be a great success. The attendance, especially from the interior of the State, from Virginia and the North, is larger than ever before known.

The first event on the card is a hurdle race, two miles, over eight hurdles, for a purse of $500, of which $409 goes to the winner and $100 to the second horse. The starters in this will be Lochiel, Tammany and Bilnd Tom. In the first pool sold to night Lochiel brought $60 against $25 for the other two, these being disposed of as Donaaue's entry.

The second race is the Dixie Stakes, for foals of 1869; then three years old, two miles. For this stake, which is the richest of the year, Joe Daniels, Woodbine, Mate, Experience Oaks, Silent Friend, the brother to Pilgrim, Wheatley and True Blue will start. The first pool sold on this event is—Joe Daniels, $420; Woodbine, $85; Silent Friend, $89; Experience Oaks, $20; Mate, $10; the brother to Pilgrim and Chamberlain's entries, Wheatley and True Blue, $5 each. Pools were subsequently tried with McDaniel against the field, but no one would back it to suit the friends of the red and blue.

The third Face is one of mile heats, which will probably have three starters—Tubman, Fadiadeen and Hanover. What little betting there is makes Tubman a large favorite over the other two.

The fourth race is a dash of three miles, the starters for which will be Monarchist, Defender and Fiora McIvor. The little betting there is on this makes Monarchist the favorite at the oads of $100 to $17.

The track is in good order and the general expectation that good time will be made during the meeting.

LITERARY CHIT-CHAT.

THE LATE SECRETARY SEWARD WAS engaged a short time previous to his death in an autobiography, which he contemplated making voluminous and complete, embracing his personal reminiscences of and criticisms on the various stateamen and politicisms whose names are passing or have passed into history, and with whom he was brought into immediate personal or official relations during his lifetime. The memorable events which centred around his own career, and which in themselves composed the most interesting portion of the around his own career, and which in themselves composed the most interesting portion of the record of the past half century, were also to be dealt with by the lamented statesman, had not the hand of death been laid so suddenly upon him. In this work he had already advanced a little beyond five hundred pages of closely written manuscript, which, however, only brought the autobiography down to 1834-5. Here the story is to be taken up by the Governor's eldest son, Mr. F. H. Seward, formerly Assistant Secretary of State, who will at once set about completing the work by supplying the complementary biography. It is fortunate that the latter was furnished by his father with a closely detailed programme and plan of the unwritten the latter was furnished by his maner with a closely detailed programme and plan of the unwritten part of the autobiography, with all the necessary papers, &c., as well as that the young man's own recollection of and connection with public events extend back to some time beyond the date whereof the great Secretary's hand ceased to write. Mr. Seward's other great work, "Travels Around the World," he happily lived to complete. It is edited by his adopted daughter, Miss Olive Risley Seward, who accompanied him on his interesting journey, and it will be issued by the Appletons about the end of next month.

MR. JOHN G. SHEA has just issued the sixth and concluding volume of his translation of Charlevolx's "History of New France," with elaborate notes, giving references to all accessible printed and manuscript authorities bearing on the history of the colonies once possessed by France in North America.
